Opis produktu

Datavideo DVS-100

Stream Server Software

Sending encoded video across networks or over the Internet to a decoder usually involves re-configuring firewalls and routers. DVS-100 overcomes this complication, allowing any user to send and receive video over a standard IP network with ease. DVS-100 is FREE software from Datavideo that allows you to easily connect multiple NVS encoder and NVD decoders over the internet or a local network. In addition to this, DVS-100 allows hundreds or even thousands of clients to connect a single stream. Clients can be multiple NVD decoders or even PCs, laptops, iOS devices or other connected devices that have a free player, such as VLC Media Player installed.
DVS-100 can be installed on your own internal server, or on 3rd party Cloud servers (such as Amazon or DigitalOcean).

Features:

- Stream Server Software
- Connect one encoder to multiple decoders anywhere in the world
- Provides RTMP & HLS streams for playback in VLC and other players
- Provided as an installer for Debain based Linux distributions
- Create a simple low cost content delivery network (CDN)
- FREE OF CHARGE download
